IX. Research

(a) Completed

- (i) Effects of Empowerment Status on the Utilisation of Reproductive Health Services among Rural Women in Nigeria
- (ii) Contribution of Social Group Participation to the Wellbeing of Rural Women in Oyo State, Nigeria

(b) In progress

(i) Effects of Single Parenting on the Social Behaviour of Teenagers in Rural Households of Kogi State, Nigeria

The rate of antisocial behavior among teenagers and youths in the society in recent times calls for prompt attention. This is obvious in characters such as sexual abuse, teenage pregnancy, drug abuse, truancy, lack of respect for elders among others. Antisocial behavior has been traced to single parenting which is caused by separation of parents, migration, divorce and death. This study seeks to determine effects of single parenting on the social behavior of teenagers in rural households of Kogi State. The research work has been conceptualised, reconnaissance survey has been conducted and the data has been collected. The study is at the stage of data analysis and discussion of findings.

(ii) Perceived Effects of COVID-19 Pandemic on the Wellbeing Status of Rural Dwellers in Oke-ogun Area of Oyo State, Nigeria

COVID-19 pandemic has left the world in a state of uncertainty and dismay. Urban and rural dwellers alike are feeling the heat in various ways ranging from food insecurity, economic instability, and health challenges among others. Wellbeing of individuals especially in the rural areas tend to be more affected at this time of the pandemic than before. The need to empirically ascertain the perceived effects of COVID-19 pandemic on the wellbeing status of rural dwellers becomes imperative. The study has been conceptualised and reconnaissance survey has been conducted and it is at the stage of data collection.
